A Speech for Mellon
Worrying 24,000,000
Trouble in Jerusalem
Registration of Women

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright 1928, by Star Co.

SECRETARY MELLON announces he will make two speeches for Republicans in October. He might make one short and effective, as follows:

"This Republican administration found the United States Government in debt 16 billions for Liberty Loans. We have paid half of that. Give us a chance and we'll pay off the other half soon."

To please American business Mr. Mellon should add to his speech:

"P. S.—I expect, D. V., to continue my work as Secretary of the Treasury after the 4th of March, 1929, although I ought to be giving attention to my own business."

Mr. Ossi, of Newark, 68 years old, picked up a pinochle hand, looked at it twice, gazing at all the double suit of hearts, except one jack and one queen. Then he fell dead.

The great Newton, completing calculations verifying his immortal formula of gravitation "directly as the mass and inversely, as the square of a distance," found his hands shaking so, that somebody else had to finish the calculations.

He didn't drop dead, fortunately. Men's interests are of different kinds.

At Lorain, O., Miss Betty Heywood is in the hospital dangerously wounded. Prohibition agents, alleged to have fired on a car in which she rode, are in jail. They thought there was bootleg whiskey in the automobile.

Would it not be a good idea to make SURE about the bootleg whiskey before shooting. Apart from the merits of prohibition there is the fact that 24,000,000 automobiles are running in the United States. Must they all wonder which one will be shot up next?

Public anger, with threats of rioting in Jerusalem, marred Yom Kippur, most holy Jewish day.

At the Wailing Wall, where pious Jews gather on special occasions, a screen separating men from women, demanded by Jewish custom, was forcibly removed by police.

Jewish representatives and rabbis protested to the British high commissioner, cancelled a reception in honor of officers from three British warships and plan a protest to the League of Nations.

British authorities explain that Mohammedans outnumbering Jews in the Holy Land ten to one, and objecting to the Jewish screen before the Wailing Wall, threatened to occupy all the space where devout Jews gather, and to stone Jewish pilgrims.

The screen was removed to prevent loss of life.

Ruling Jerusalem, considered a most difficult post in the days of Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor, is not easy now, with Moslems so greatly outnumbering Jews.

A feature of this campaign, interesting to politicians and misleading some of them, is increased registration of women.

In Baltimore more women registered than men. In New York female registration has increased enormously.

Republicans, taking on granted that this registration of women is all due to Herbert Hoover's humanitarian services in the war, may be too optimistic.

Women of Catholic faith feel that Governor Smith is opposed on account of his religion, and that it is their duty to register and vote in numbers greater than ever.

The real extraordinary registration of women will not be explained until November.

A first folio Shakespeare, about 13 inches long, 9 inches wide, and worth as much as a large farm in the Northwest, is coming from England. Many would go to see it that might not buy for two dollars, or read, a better edition of Shakespeare. Human curiosity is of different kinds.

PRISONER HAD THEM IN SUITCASE IN HARTFORD, SWEETHEART ASSERT

Three steel-jacketed bullets were woven into the State's chain of evidence against Stephen Hoppe, alleged slayer of Quincy policeman, today, when the defendant's sweetheart identified them as having been in Hoppe's suitcase.

These bullets were mentioned by the prosecutor in the opening address to the jury as being of like make and markings since to that which burrowed through the trunk of Patrolman Alfred N. Hollis last October.

They were introduced into the case at the trial in Superior Court at Dedham shortly after Helen Elaine Bradshaw of Hartford, Ct., sweetheart of Hoppe, was recalled to the witness stand to answer questions put by the government.

With a dramatic gesture, Asst. Dist. Atty. William P. Kelley held out within a few inches of Miss Bradshaw's eyes on the outstretched palm of his right hand.

"Have you ever seen these?" he asked.

"Yes," she answered.

Zepp Radios First 'Sky Speeches'

Friedrichshafen, Ger., Sept. 28 (INS)—Germany's great new dirigible Count Zeppelin, landed at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon after a successful trial flight over Germany and Austrian soil.

For the first time in history speeches were broadcast from a dirigible while the Count Zeppelin was over this city. Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin works, and Deputy Paul Loebe both spoke, praising the achievement of constructing such a wonderful airship.

The speeches were sent out from the Zeppelin through the ship's radio. The dirigible crossed the frontier, reaching Salzburg, Austria, at 10 o'clock. It then peacefully turned north and passed over Landshut at 11 o'clock.

IN 60 MILES AN HOUR DASH TUNNEY'S AUTO HITS CAR IN FRANCE

Juan Les Pins, France, Sept. 27 (INS Delayed in transmission)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, who has been making a tour of southern France by foot and motor car, arrived in this town with a bang last night.

Driving a 40-horsepower motor car at 60 miles an hour he whizzed up in front of the Hotel DeProvence, crashing into another automobile that was just leaving the hotel courtyard.

Both cars were badly damaged, but neither Tunney nor the driver of the other automobile was injured.

The irate owner of the other motor car leaped from his machine and began gesticulating and emitting French at an amazing rate of speed. Tunney, not understanding French, stood mutely by while a large crowd began to gather.

No one in the crowd recognized the American ex-pugilist. After 15 minutes Tunney's patience gave way and he bawled out:

"Never mind all that. I am Gene Tunney. How much will it cost me?"

That promptly ended all argument.

After paying the owner of the damaged car Tunney caught sight of a French photographer trying

ANGLO-FRENCH PACT IS TURNED DOWN BY U. S.

Paris, Sept. 28 (INS)—The United States note dealing with the Anglo-French naval agreement declines to accept the Anglo-French proposals and suggests America's viewpoint as the basis of future negotiations, a high foreign office official declared today after reading the communication from Washington.

His statement follows:

"American communication does not mean the end of disarmament hopes. Although America declines to accept the Anglo-French accord as the basis of future negotiations the note technically sets forth the American naval situation, suggesting it as the new basis for any further negotiations."

Washington, Sept. 28—One of the longest notes in American diplomatic history is to be presented to the British and French foreign offices within the next 48 hours in protest of the secret naval alliance.

Lawrence, Sept. 28—Still setting off the fireworks, Mayor "Bossy" Gillis of Newburyport brought his own trial to an abrupt ending in Superior Court today by pleading guilty to four charges of illegal storage and sale of gasoline.

He will be sentenced in Superior Court at Salem next Thursday.

Perhaps, like Skippy, he found "all this very disgretful." Certain it is that yesterday, when the trial opened, he viewed with displeasure the large group of witnesses called by the government to prove that the opening of his new gas station was not within the law.

When court convened today, "Bossy," his counsel and the prosecution attorneys went into confer-

PAID BY POWER TRUST, W. ALLEN WHITE SAYS

New York, Sept. 28 (INS)—William Allen White, Kansas editor, returning from Europe today, was asked about the recent disclosure to the effect that he had been paid $500 for delivering a speech under the auspices of the National Electric Power Association and replied "I got the money."

"Sure I got it," he added, "It's less than I usually get for making a speech."

White steadfastly refused to be drawn into a political expression. He said definitely that his recent attack on the political and moral record of Governor Smith, part of which he retracted before sailing for Europe, will not be continued until he has fortified himself with additional facts on the progress of the campaign.

HOPPE'S SWEETHEART IDENTIFIES BULLETS FOUND IN HIS SUITCASE IN HARTFORD

"Where?"
"In the black suitcase."
"When?"
"In September, 1927."

Judge Keating then interrupted and asked what the objects were that the prosecuting chief was holding before the witness, and Kelley told him: "Three bullets, Your Honor."

DOCTOR TESTIFIES

Dr. James E. Carroll of Hartford testified that Hoppe went to him three days after the murder with a hole through his left hand, a wound which appeared to be at least two or three days old.

The state contends that Patrolman Hollis, firing a single shot at his slayer, marked him with a telltale bullet wound.

The doctor said Hoppe gave his name as Wilcox, later as Hollis. He said Hoppe left and never returned after being questioned about the wound and he told the jury two different explanations that Hoppe gave, one that the wound was from an electric drill, the other that it was from a meat-grinder.

There was another surprise for the crowd of spectators, including many women, that filled the court room, a little earlier in the day when Judge Keating excluded from the record of the case 13 questions put to Miss Bradshaw yesterday, together with her 15 answers.

This action by the court followed a 50-minute conference at the bench in which defense attorneys and prosecutor participated. The reason for the exclusion was not clear, but some of the material was apparently irrelevant. The rest was ruled out on a point of law.

Hoppe, his life at stake, displayed little interest in developments, but he did sit up and take notice when one article after another which the government had found in his suitcase in a New Haven storage warehouse was shown to Miss Bradshaw for identification, just before the bullets were produced.

All the queries were by Asst. Dist. Atty. Kelley.

Some of them were:

Q—After you talked with Atty. Cassidy, counsel for the defendant, did I not say to you, "Is the story you told me this morning any different?" A—Yes.

Q—What answer did you give? A—My story is the same. I can't change my story.

Q—Is that true? A—Yes.

Q—Now, then, did you stay at Dedham Inn last night? A—No.

Q—Did you go away? A—Yes.

Q—When did you get back? A—This morning.

Q—When you went to Dedham Inn the night before last did you talk with a woman? A—Yes.

Q—Did you tell her you were summoned by the Commonwealth? A—Yes.

Q—Did you say you would do all you could for Hoppe? A—Not in that way.

Q—Did you say it in substance? A—I did say I would like to help him.

These were from three different parts of the record. Atty. Cassidy for the defence entered an objection. Judge Keating overruled him but noted his exception.

QUIZZES MRS. FARRAR

Cross-examination of Mrs. Elizabeth G. Farrar of Quincy, who testified she saw a man limping away from the scene of the murder, was begun by Atty. Jacob J. Hamburg, assistant defence counsel.

It was brought out that there were several trees outside of the window through which Mrs. Farrar looked. She said there was a strong wind and that she was awake because the back door was slamming.

Witness said the man was limping, but would not say it was a decided limp. She could not say how long he was within her vision.

She could not tell whether he wore a hat or if he was short. She remembered it was raining hard that night and she said she was very much excited on account of the noise made by the slamming door.

Mrs. Farrar left the stand after brief testimony and the spectators were surprised to hear the prosecutor recall Miss Bradshaw. The their conference with Judge Keating as the day's session opened and when the whispered colloquy ended 20 minutes later Judge Keating said to the jurors:

"I order the following questions and answers of Miss Helen E. Bradshaw stricken from the record and instruct you, the jury, to disregard them."

Judge Keating then read from the transcript of evidence the questions and replies which he had ruled out.

All the queries were by Asst. Dist. Atty. Kelley.

Some of them were:

Q—After you talked with Atty. Cassidy, counsel for the defendant, did I not say to you, "Is the story you told me this morning any different?" A—Yes.

Mrs. Farrar left the stand after brief testimony and the spectators were surprised to hear the prosecutor recall Miss Bradshaw. The sweetheart of Hoppe made her way to the stand with a smile and her customary air of unconcern. Prosecutor Kelley walked toward the girl and asked:

Q—Do you recognize this camera? A—Yes.

Q—Where did you last see it? A—In Mr. Hoppe's possession.

(The witness had previously referred to Hoppe as Bersig.)

She said she last saw the camera before Hoppe's goods were placed in storage.

Q—Is that your camera or Mr. Hoppe's? A—Mine.

Q—I show you a cigarette case. Did you ever see it before? A—Yes.

ON THEIR OCEAN TRIP.

Q—Do you know whose it is? A—Yes.

Q—Whose is it? Objection by defence was sustained.

Q—In whose possession did you last see it? A—Mr. Hoppe's.

Q—When did you see it? A—Some time in October.

Q—Do you know where it came from originally? A—Mr. Hoppe purchased it.

Q—Where? A—On an ocean steamship.

Q—Were you traveling with him? A—Yes.

Q—Were you going to Europe or returning? A—Going to Europe.

Witness testified that the last time she saw the cigaret case was on Hoppe's table at 24 Hopkins st., Hartford, Ct.

Q—I show you a booklet of the Cunard line and ask you when you last saw that? A—I think it was in January.

Q—Did you or did you not sail from New York July 20, 1927? A—Yes.

Opening the booklet and showing the witnesses the list of passengers the prosecutor asked her:

Q—Does the name George Bersig and Mrs. George Bersig appear on this list? The question was excluded on objection.

Q—I show you a picture. Do you recognize it? A—Yes.

Q—Whose picture is it? R.—It's a picture of me.

Q—When did you last see it? A.—In October, before the goods were put in storage.

She then identified, with a smile, a picture of Hoppe and then another likeness of the defendant, followed by a third.

CAUSES LAUGHTER.

Next she identified a magnifying glass and two business cards of a grocery company of which Hoppe was proprietor.

Q—And now (Miss Bradshaw was smiling, almost laughing) I show you a small book and ask if you saw that before? A—Yes.

Q—It appears to be a French-English dictionary? A—Yes, it's mine.

She could not identify a gold chain which was shown her next. She identified a bracelet and then the prosecutor held up a small article, saying, "Can you identify this—it looks like a tooth?" A—Yes (laughing).

Q—Whose? A—Mr. Hoppe's.

Both Hoppe and the girl were now laughing and spectators joined them, though without knowing what the joke between them was.

Q—When did you last see it? A—I don't remember.

Q—Remember the occasion that it came into this condition, somewhat broken. A—Yes, the last part of June, 1927.

The girl witness was now laughing almost hilariously. She then identified a key and key-ring and an oval picture of herself. She identified an acetylene torch and a bill for a fur coat.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Cassidy, Miss Bradshaw told of a raid on the Hopkins st. apartment. She was asked if she assisted in packing a suitcase before the raid, and she said she did.

Q—What did you see the officers do? This question was excluded.

Q—How long were the articles on the table before you packed them? A—I don't remember.

IDENTIFIES BULLETS

Q—Did you overhear any conversation? A—Yes.

Q—What were the officers saying? A—They were looking for rope.

A series of questions followed, the witness revealing that a thorough search of the apartment was made by the police.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Kelley questioned the girl once more, asking her if she saw an electric drill, and she said she did see one in January. She said it was in the black suitcase with the torch.

Kelley then walked slowly to the prosecutor's table and returned to his position in front of the witness. He held something in his hand and put it close to the girl's face.

Q—Have you ever seen any of these things? A—Yes.

Q—Where? A—In the black suitcase.

Q—How many? A—Three.

Q—When did you see them? A—In September, 1927.

Judge Keating interrupted and demanded to know what these objects were.

WERE IN SUITCASE

Kelley—These are three bullets, your honor, with cartridges attached.

Cassidy then questioned the witness.

Q—Were you asked about these bullets before today? A—No.

Q—What? Why do you hesitate?

Kelley—The witness doesn't hesitate. She answered that question—No.

Miss Bradshaw—I don't understand the question.

Cassidy—Were you asked about three bullets before today by anybody? A—Yes; last February.

Q—Who asked you? A—Detective Hickey and Detective Sheerin of Hartford.

Q—Did anybody ask you since then, until today? A—Sheerin and Hickey last July.

Q—Anybody in this courthouse ask you? A—No.

Q—You never talked with Mr. Kelley or anyone in his office about them? A—No.

Q—Were those bullets in the house the morning of the raid? A—They were in the black suitcase.

Q—Did you see them the day of the raid? A—I saw them the day before.

Q—That day, the day of the raid, did you see them? A—No.

Dr. James E. Carroll of Hartford testified that Hoppe appeared at his office October 7, 1927 (three days after the murder and raked for treatment for an injured left hand, giving his name as George Wilcox.

"The wound was covered with antiphlogistine, which was very hard, showing it had been on for two or three days," testified Dr. Carroll.

"He told me the hand had been injured by an electric drill. I found a puncture from the front to rear at the base of the ring finger. The back edges were badly jagged and infected. I asked him about this and he said the drill broke off. I suggested hospital treatment, but he would not listen to it."

Dr. Carroll further testified that Hoppe visited him the following day.

"He had a black eye that day," said the doctor. "I asked him how he got it, and he said his wife 'beat him up.' I asked him how big his wife was, and he said she was four feet tall."

The doctor said he dressed the wound and that after Hoppe made a payment he acted as if very nervous.

"I said to him, 'By the way, what is your name again?' and he said, 'John Hollis.' I asked him how he could have his name changed over-night from Wilcox to Hollis. He had his hat in his hand and asked me what I was going to do with my record of thec ase. I asked him what he cared; the bill was paid. He left and never came back, though he told me he would be back the next day."

DENIED BEING SHOT

Q.—Did you have a conversation with the defendant about shooting? A.—Yes, I asked him if he had been out hunting lately. He said me no, a drill broke off in his hand.

Q.—Did you observe anything about his condition other than the wound in his hand? A.—He was nervous.

Q.—What is your opinion as to the time he received that wound? A.—Approximately two or three days before, or it may have been longer.

This was admitted over strenuous objection of defense counsel but the next question was excluded, namely: Q.—Is that wound consistent with having been received as a result of a bullet passing through the hand?

Dr. Carroll said he next saw Hoppe at St. Francis Hospital in February, 1928, when he went there with four policemen. He said Hoppe admitted he was the doctor who treated him, and on this occasion explained the wound as having been received from a meat grinder in a butcher shop.

Tokyo, Sept. 28 (AP)—Precedents were shattered today when Yoshito, Prince Chichibu, 26-year-old heir presumptive to the throne married Miss Sesuko Mastudaira, 19-year-old daughter of the former Japanese ambassador to Washington.

For the first time since the establishment of a hereditary nobility a prince of the blood went outside the peerage to select his wife. He made the selection under romantic circumstances, falling a victim to her charms when visiting the Japanese embassy in Washington in January, 1927.

The wedding ceremony began when the Prince and his new Princess entered the outer sanctuary before the Kashikoredoro, "The Place of Awe," in the imperial palace, where the spirit of the sun goddess is worshipped as the material ancestor of the imperial house.

NIECE OF MILL MAN, UNWED, GETS $10,000

Marriage within the next few months will cost Miss Mary O. Whitman an even $7,000.

Under the will of her uncle, William Whitman of Brookline, she will receive $10,000 if she is still unmarried when the will is probated. In the event she is wed before the will is probated she will receive only $3000.

The documents was filed for probate in Norfolk court today.

Disposing of an estate estimated at several millions of dollars, it leaves to the widow, Jane D. Whitman, $500,000 worth of stock in the William Whitman Co., Inc., to be held in trust for her benefit as long as she lives, and on her death to revert to her heirs.

A daughter, Mabel S. Duff, receives $50,000; a granddaughter, Mrs. Jane Whitman Badger, $50,000; grandson, Gardner W. Ballard, $25,000; sisters, Eleanor Fairbanks and Jessie M. Little, $5000 each; sister-in-law, Helen L. Whitman, $2500.

A number of employes, understood to have been on the Whitman estate for years, were remembered. Martin Sullivan and Della Johns were given $1000 each; Jessie Little, Norah O'Keefe and Mary Brinkley, $500 each, and John Houghton and Thomas Grady, $250 each.

In the same court was filed the will of Judge William Sullivan of Brookline, former associate justice of the Boston municipal court, leaving all his property to his wife, Louise E. Sullivan. The will was dated February 19, 1920, and was drawn on plain ruled paper.

AUTO RACER OF TRAINS BARRED IN 4 STATES

Jerome P. Neff of New York, the train-racing automobilist, may not drive a car now in Massachusets, Rhode Island, New York or Connecticut. The latter State today was added to the list of those which have suspended his license when Neff failed to appear at Stamford for a hearing on the question of suspension. A reciprocal agreement with the Massachusets registrar's office resulted in the action.

Neff claimed to have beaten an express train in a race from New York to Boston, averaging 79 miles an hour between New Haven and Providence.

ROBBERS LOOT SCHOOL SAFE

The safe in the office of Principal E. H. Whitehill in the Watertown high school was opened during the night and robbed of a small sum of money, it was learned today.

The discovery was made by Principal Whitehill, who found the combination of the safe knocked off.

Entrance was obtained through a greenhouse connected with the school, but the robber left no clues. A man arrested for drunkenness is being held on suspicion of having some knowledge of the crime.

MOONSHINE IN GAS METER; STOREKEEPER FINED $100

Sergt. Driscoll and Patrolmen Quilty and Breen of Divison 15 today qualified as expert meter readers. From a gas meter in a store near the Charlestown Navy Yard, they drew three gallons of moonshine liquor. John Harkins, proprietor, paid a $100 fine in court. Six months ago in the same place police found a liquor supply suspended inside the chimney from the roof.

MULVEY PLANS TO SEEK NEW RECOUNT

Dissatisfied with the result of the recount whereby he lost the nomination for clerk of the Suffolk Superior Court by 32 votes to John R. Campbell, Senator James J. Mulvey of Roxbury today planned to petition the Secretary of State for a recount in Winthrop and Revere.

Another development was the decision of Chairman Frank Selbertich of the election department to make a special report to Mayor Nichols of the recount in defence of his department.

The recount was made in all the city wards and Chelsea, with the exception of Revere, where 101 ballots were cast, and Winthrop, whose total ballots numbered 144.

Mulvey was first returned a winner of the Democratic nomination by 252 votes. Campbell, backed by Martin Lomasney, demanded a recount, which was granted.

This recount returned him the winner.

Discussing the upset which dropped Mulvey from a lead of 928 in Boston to one of 93, giving the victory to Campbell in view of his 1254-vote lead in outside districts, Chairman Selberlich said:

"The 200-old election officials who worked on primary day are the equal of, if not the superior to, any election men in the country."

BERGER FAVORS SMITH RATHER THAN HOOVER

Milwaukee, Sept. 28 (AP)—Representative Victor L. Berger, national chairman of the Socialist party, issued a statement today in which he said "I see from Associated Press dispatches that statements made by Socialist campaign managers in New York have been construed to mean that the Socialists prefer Hoover to Smith. I also that Mr. Thomas, Presidential candidate of the Socialist party, predicts the election of Hoover. I cannot agree with that. I consider the interpretations placed upon the statements misleading and mischievous."

SUPER-DIRIGIBLE TESTS NEW GAS ON LONG FLIGHT

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 28 (INS)—The new super-dirigible Count Zeppelin ascended at 7:04 a. m. today on another trial flight during which the new "blau gas" fuel may be tried out for the first time. Although it was not announced before the start that the new fuel would be used, 1200 cubic meters of the gas were taken aboard.

The huge craft was expected to make a longer flight today than ever before. There were 27 guests aboard, including several women. Commander Rosendahl of the U. S. dirigible Los Angeles and two British air experts.

JOBS, PAYROLLS INCREASE IN TWO MONTHS

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—An increase in industrial and trade activity throughout the country and a further advance in wholesale commodity prices were reported today by the Federal Reserve Board in a review of business conditions for August and September.

Outstanding reserve bank credit increased in September due to seasonal demands for currency and credit, the board said, while the general level of commodity prices reached the highest point in two years. Money rates remained firm during the two months, its survey added.

The output of manufacturing plants, the report declared, increased considerably during August, being larger at this season than in any earlier year. Production of minerals also increased considerably, it said.

TEXTILE ACTIVITY

"Textile mill activity, which has been somewhat reduced in recent months, showed a substantial increase," the report said. "Factory employment and payrolls have increased since midsummer and in August were close to the level of a year ago.

"The general level of commodity prices increased in August and the Bureau of Labor of Statistics index, at 98.3 per cent of the 14 average, was the highest in nearly two years. . . . Grains and cotton showed sharp declines, and there were increases also in hides and skins of wool."

CONSTRUCTION BOOM

Business conditions were declared to be unusually good, states Secretary of Commerce Whiting today.

"General business is in a satisfactory condition," the secretary said. "Particularly is this situation shown by the volume of construction now going on. Our reports show that construction contracts let during the third week in September amounted to $192,000,000, which is the largest total ever attained.

"This is rather unusual to have construction mounting up at this time of year. It gives us very good prospect for future business. The other business indications fit in well with this expectation. The volume of check payments last week reached about $6,500,000,000, a very high record, and the steel business is now operating at 86 per cent of capacity. Interest rates are high, but they do not seem to be affecting business volume, indicating that commerce is on a sound basis."

HE'LL SOON BE HOME

Little Jimmie is doing well at the New England Hospital for Women and Children. For the first time since the hospital was opened, 67 years ago, it is appealing to the public for aid to build a new children's building and as addition to its present inadequate nurses' home.

NEW ENGLAND HOSPITAL ASKS FOR $400,000

The New England Hospital for Women and Children which this year observes its 66th anniversary, needs a new children's building and an addition to its present inadequate nurses' home.

The new buildings will cost $400,000.

The money must be raised by public subscription.

The New England Hospital has asked for public help only once in 61 years.

The women who have conducted it have made all sorts of personal sacrifices to keep the doors open to the public.

The New England Hospital has enabled thousands of parents of moderate means to get the best of care in maternity cases at a cost so low as to work no hardship. This great service has been in addition to many cases where no charge was made.

4000 PATIENTS ANNUALLY

The hospital cares for about 4600 patients annually—at less than cost. More than 7000 treatments were given in clinics last year.

In announcing the appeal, Mrs. David K. Horton, president of the board of directors says:

"The staff from the hospital, from the superintendent down, have waged a plucky fight to maintain the hospital in the front rank, even if they had to sell their parlor furniture to do so. Now they are asking the public to come to their aid, assure us that they may set a new standard of service.

"The hospital was established in 1862 to provide for women medical aid of competent physicians of their own sex. It is the second oldest hospital for women in the United States and the eighth oldest hospital in Boston. Women physicians were rare in 1862. No hospital in New England would admit women students as internes and vital clinical experience was almost wholly denied them.

"An addition to the nurses' home must be built, so that more nurses can be added to the staff and student nurses trained for service. The New England hospital school of nursing is America's pioneer school, and from it graduated Linda Richards, the first nurse trained in the United States. Linda Richards was a contemporary of Florence Nightingale.

"The New England Hospital for Women and Children has already grown from a ten bed hospital in a small rented building to one of 140 beds. The first year 118 patients were cared for. Last year there were 2348 patients. Births the first year numbered 45. In 1928 there were 1175.

"In place of the small dispensary or outpatient department of 1862, there are now 11 clinics, where 7719 treatments were given last year. Among the patients were natives of 31 different countries. Hospital interns made 952 home visits during the year.

NL "BUILDING PLANNED

"The proposed children's building is to be a fireproof structure in red brick, trimmed with grey stone. Wide balconies, large windows, sunny solaria and roof gardens are provided. The first floor will have beds divided into cubicles, with the nurses' station overlooking. Rooms large enough for patient and nurse or patient and mother are provided for on the second floor.

"The nurses' home will be of brick construction to harmonize with the present buildings and will also be fireproof throughout."

The representative citizens committee back of the appeal includes Governor Alvan T. Fuller, honorary chairman; Frederic W. Rugg, general chairman; Dr. Frederic J. Cotton, vice chairman; Thos. P. Beal, treasurer, and George Bramwell Baker, Hugh Bancroft, Fred H. Curtiss, George DeBlois, Dr. Robert DeNormandie, Miss Hannah M. Edwards, Samuel A. Eliot, D. D., George H. Ellis, Louis Kirstein, Rabbis Harry J. Levi, George W. Mitton, James J. Phelan, Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitman, A. C. Ratcheley, C. E. Riley, Frederic S. Snyder.

MEAT PRODUCERS SAVED BY TARIFF, SAYS SMOOT

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah today expressed the opinion that, lacking tariff protection, practically all producers of beef and mutton in the United States would be forced out of business. The Senator's views were made known in a letter to a constituent who had asked how the tariff benefited ranchers, sheepmen or dairymen, and said the cost of production of beef and mutton is enormously greater in the United States than in any other surpluscreducry country. Smoot said that after the passage of the Underwood act large quantities of frozen beef and mutton were diverted from Europe to the United States. This was taken by the war, he declared but resumed afterwards and was only checked by the 1922 tariff law.

MUSSOLINI AT FORLI FOR SON'S BIRTHDAY

Forli, Italy, Sept. 28 (AP)—Premier Mussolini arrived at his country home, Villa Carpeni, to celebrate his son Romano's first anniversary yesterday. He will also celebrate his son Vittorio's feast day on Sunday.

The Premier motored from Rome with his sons, Bruno and Vittorio, who had just returned from an Ananguardista cruise to Constantinople and to Holy Land. Signor Mussolini was at the wheel himself as far as Pesaro, were he took a brief rest.

GO TO OXFORD AND GET INTO WHO'S WHO

New York, Sept. 28—A survey has convinced Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore College, that an Oxford education is an excellent preparation for success in the United States for the former Rhodes scholars in America only 15 are more than 40 years old yet 11 are listed in "Who's Who in America."

Woman Scorned, Planned Revenge in Death

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 28 (AP)—The subtle revenge of a scorned woman is the explanation given by police for the mysterious death of Mrs. Cora Stead, mother of a wealthy manufacturer of Birmingham, Eng.

She was found shot through the head after she had screamed in the telephone to her ranch home that she was being murdered.

The body was found some distance from the rifle that had sent the shot into her brain.

Police constructed a story of how Mrs. Mead planned to take her life and cast suspicion on L. A. Thornewill, Santa Cruz business man, whose love for her had cooled. Police said Thornewill had called on the woman and, according to his own admission, had refused to return to her. Mrs. Mead ran into the house, police believe, raised the telephone receiver, screamed for help, then laid a rifle on the kitchen table, knelt on the floor and released the trigger with a piece of wood which investigators later found.

JOINT RITES FOR 700 GALE DEAD IN FLORIDA

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 28 (AP)—Plans were made here today for a simple funeral service to be held Sunday for Florida's storm dead.

Members of the City Ministerial Union appointed eight of its body to conduct the service, which will be held over the graves of more than 700 storm victims buried at Woodlawn Cemetery here.

Rites will be conducted for those buried here, and for those buried elsewhere.

He 'Digs Fuel From Water' and Sees Coal Cost Cut

By HARRY R. FLORY
Copyright, 1928, by International News Service

London, Sept. 28—Dr. Walter von Hohenau, formerly of Philadelphia, discoverer of a revolutionary method of extracting fuel from water, told International News Service today the new fuel he will have perfected and in use before Christmas will reduce fuel costs 50 per cent, and make the use of coal and gas unnecessary.

He left Philadelphia and went to Berlin because American capitalists were trying to seize his discovery, he said. Addressing the fuel conference in London yesterday, he told of his experiments to produce fuel from hydrogen and the success of his undertaking.

"From one atom of water I obtain 18 atoms of hydrogen," he said. "My heat units obtained from hydrogen have run an internal combustion engine 14 days. Hydrogen usable as fuel can be produced 50 per cent below the present cost of fuel. It can be used for every purpose for which coal and gas are employed.

"Also, hydrogen will conserve the coal supply. It may increase the value of coal through liberating it for purposes of chemistry and manufacture."

TUNNEY IN AUTO SMASHUP IN FRANCE

to snap him and the two damaged automobiles. The former pugilist was obviously angered. After glaring at the photographer for a moment he cried out in English:

"Beat it."

The photographer, a Frenchman, failed to understand these words and continued his attempt to take pictures. Suddenly Tunney rushed out and grabbed the camera, meanwhile saying:

"If you do not go away I will smash your camera."

He made as if to crush it in his hands, an action the Frenchman understood, for he immediately retired from the scene. Tunney had planned to motor into Italy, but his car was too badly damaged. He had to leave it for repairs.

Tunney has evidently cut short his tour of southern France to go to Naples to meet his fiancee, Miss Josephine ("Polly") Lauder, $50,000,000 American heiress of Greenwich, Ct., who is due there in the Italian liner Saturnia in a day or two.

Tunney left Juan Les Pins by rail and it is understood his destination was Milan.

Plan for Tunney to Be Received by Pope

Rome, Sept. 28—It is understood that arrangements are under way for Gene Tunney to be received by Pope Pius. It is uncertain whether it will be to possible to fulfill the necessary administrative formulas for this audience in the short time at Tunney's disposal. If this proves a barrier, an audience may be arranged for him and his bride after the wedding.

Gene spent the morning with Thomas L. Daniels, secretary of the American embassy here, trying to straighten out the red tape required for a wedding on such short notice and to obtain the necessary church dispensations for his union with a Protestant. He said that some of his experiences reminded him of his days in the Marine Corps.

While resting at his hotel, Tunney said that since this was his first visit to Italy, he felt it his duty to devote as much time as possible to sightseeing. He regretted that he had to "do Rome" in such a hurry.

But for the sightseeing here he will have an exceedingly well equipped guide. His friend, Thornton Wilder, who will pilot him about the city, was for a year a "fellow" of the American Academy in Rome before he gained fame as a novelist.

Tunney said that he wished to absorb all he could, however little, of what Rome has to teach, as he considered the opportunity an educational privilege.

Tunney to Wed in Rome if Miss Lauder Agrees

Rome, Sept. 28 (AP)—The marriage of Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, and Miss Mary Josephine Lauder, of Greenwich, Ct., will, if Miss Lauder agrees, take place in Rome instead of at Sorrento on the Bay of Naples.

This was practically decided today a few hours after Gene had come here and sought the necessary official and church dispensations connected with a wedding on such short notice and the fact that the bride-to-be is a Protestant.

One of Tunney's callers at his hotel today was Very Rev. Monsignor Joseph A. Breslin, vice rector of the American College here and formerly priest of the parish in which Tunney lived in New York. They have been friends for years and through the influence of the ecclesiastic it will be possible to get the church dispensation more easily in Rome than any other city in Italy.

ence with Judge Nelson P. Brown. The conference lasted two hours and at its conclusion, "Bossy," who had never cried "quits" in a battle, threw himself upon the mercy of the court.

To charges of cutting down shade trees and changing the grade of a sidewalk, he pleaded nolo.

Judge Brown gave no intimation in open court of how he would view the 320 days' jail sentence and $1,240 appealed by the mayor in lower court, following his conviction on the same charges to which he today pleaded guilty.

ONE KILLED, ONE DEAD; MISHAPS IN ELEVATORS

Two elevator accidents, one fatal and the other probably so, were reported to the police of Boston today.

The body of Joseph Sullivan, 26, of Dorchester ave., was found at the bottom of the freight elevator well at 186 South st. Sullivan, an assistant shipper for Armour Leather Co., at that address, is believed to have stepped into the elevator well from the fourth floor.

At closing time last night he was seen hurrying to the locker room on the fourth floor, and as his coat was clutched in one hand when the body was found, he apparently hurried into the elevator well thinking the elevator was at that floor.

Morris Cherwitz, 40, of Ames st., Somerville, a dress manufacturer at 7 Hudson st., was a victim of a similar accident. Cherwitz was putting out ash barrels on the first floor of the building, walking through the freight elevator and an outer door.

While the manufacturer was inside his establishment, someone pulled up the elevator, and on returning Cherwitz stepped into the elevator well without looking. He was taken to the Haymarket Relief Hospital with a fractured skull, and his name placed on the danger list.

Fireman Dies After Fighting Blaze; 2d Family Tragedy

Worcester, Sept. 28—Tragedy visited a home here for the second time in a few months today, when Valentine H. Crosby, 51, driver of Ladder Truck 7 of the fire department, collapsed and died of heart failure at the Winslow st. fire station.

A short time ago Mrs. Crosby killed herself and youngest son by gas poisoning, leaving her husband to bring up three other children, two girls, 8 and 15 years old, and a son, 18.

Today Crosby helped to raise a 50-foot ladder to the roof of a burning building at Main and May sts., and in so doing strained the muscles of his heart. He made no complaint at the time, but after driving the truck back to the firehouse, collapsed and died.

HEARST PRESS IS PRAISED BY ROME PAPER

Rome, Sept. 28.—Appreciation of the accuracy of Universal Service dispatches printed by the Hearst newspapers of the United States is expressed by the Italian newspapaer Piccolo di Roma.

The journal remarks that these newspapers "which last week published the French document on the Anglo-French naval pact have shown themselves well informed in these matters, and their forecasts are received with great interest."

The Italian newspapers continue featuring developments in connection with the naval problem in long dispatches from Washington, London and Paris today.

BARNES TO SUE BIG ALBANY BALL POOL

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28 (INS)—Clarence A. Barnes of Boston, whose question on law enforcement to Governor Smith recently resulted in a grand jury investigation of the alleged Albany baseball pool, arrived in Albany today to open an office for the purpose of suing operators of the pool.

Barnes appeared in the U. S. District Court and received permission to practice before that court. He then announced he had been retained by 30 persons to sue the pool to recover money paid for tickets.

The 30 persons who have retained him, Barnes announced, include residents of Albany and Massachusetts.

Barnes rented an office in one of the main streets. Tomorrow he will begin attacking the pool by civil suit.

Asked how he could sue the operators of the pool since they have never been named, at least the "men higher up," Barnes declared he could overcome this difficulty because the pool had been operated under a regular name. It has been known as the "C. C. and R. M. Association."

The basis for the suits, according to Barnes, will be testimony in Federal court last week by an employe of the pool that his chief work has been to insert 1,700 fake plays every week among the legitimate plays.

800 WITNESS EXECUTION OF MEXICAN INSURGENT

Mexico City, Sept. 28 (AP)—Francisco Miranda, right-hand man of Aristolitino Figueroa, an insurgent chieftain who has been holding up motorists on the Puebla and Cuernavaca highways, has been court martialed and executed at San Rafael, State of Mexico. Miranda was captured some days ago at Tenango Del Aire. He confessed his extreme activities. The execution was witnessed by 800 persons, including relatives of the condemned man. Miranda furnished the authorities information concerning Vidaurri hiding places in the mountains.

SWIG REFUSES TO TAKE STAND IN VOTE FIGHT

Simon Swig, whose candidacy as an independent to the House of Representatives from Ward 12 is protested by the Rev. Charles L. Page, today declined to testify at a hearing before the State Ballot Law Commission at the State House.

Chairman Cunningham ruled the commission would take the case as left by counsel.

40 PLANES OPEN NEW PORTLAND AIRPORT

By GEORGE W. HAMBLIN

Portland, Me., Sept. 28—An aerial parade with 40 ships participating today inaugurated the two-day aerial meet featuring the opening of the new Scarborough airport, with indications that the program might be curtailed because of adverse weather conditions.

Lowering skies greeted the pilots from Boston, New York, Hartford, Worcester, Springfield, Hyannis and Greenfield as they took off for the parade over Portland, with a sister ship to the famous Bremen, piloted by Fred Melchior and carrying 11 passengers, as the chief attraction.

Capt. Leroy d'Arcy of the Colony Airways Corp. of Beverly, Mass., flying a Ryan brougham, sister ship to Col. Lindbergh's plane, with the writer as passenger, passed through a snow squall and other pilots reported hail storms.

MARINE STUNTS.

Three Marine Corps Curtiss-Hawks piloted by Lieuts. Sanderson and Price and Sergt. Belcher, treated the spectators to aerial acrobatics, flying first in formation and then doing barrel rolls, loops and spins. The three speedy craft made the trip from Mitchel Field, New York in 1 hour and 55 minutes, establishing a record for the flight to Portland.

C. H. Spencer of the New England Aircraft Corporation of Hartford was ruled out of the OX-5 race scheduled for 2 o'clock because the pilots considered his one place Fairey short time to be too fast.

EGYPT DROPPING

The program of events started at 2:30 with bomb dropping, followed by the OX-5 race at 3, balloon burning at 4 and a race for J-5 Wright 9 survivors open cockpit ships at 5. This race was to bring together Lieut. Crocker Snow of Skyways, Inc., and Ralph Wickford of the Boston Airport Corporation, Inc.

There were so many OX-5 planes entered that it was found necessary to run off the race in heats of five ships.

The Navy has a big tri-motored Ford here, and 15 more ships of various types are expected to arrive before tomorrow, bringing the total to between 55 and 60.

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Sept. 28—C. S. "Casey" Jones, president of the Curtiss flying service, left Curtiss Field today in a Curtiss Falcon biplane to attend the ceremonies marking the opening of the Curtiss service's new airport at Portland, Me.

He was followed shortly afterwards by William Purcell, flying a Fairchild cabin monoplane.

Henry White was preparing to leave about noon for Portland in a Sikorsky amphibian.

Women Know That Scott Never Uses 'Bait' Advertising!

What Is "Bait" in Advertising?

WHILE the word "Bait" as it applies to advertising is one of slang, we find that the Standard Dictionary as well as Funk & Wagnalls describe this word in the same language which the advertiser would use should he undertake to give it a definition.

Briefly, the word "Bait" is defined as "anything used on a hook, or in a snare, trap, or the like to allure." "Any substance used as a lure in catching fish or other animals."

From this information we find that the application of the term "Bait" is not amiss when applied to a small percentage of present-day advertising, calculated to deceive and lure the customer into the store to be sold other than the advertised merchandise.

Cases of "Bait" advertising should be reported to the Bureau.

JAP PRINCE IS WED 'OUTSIDE OF THE BLOOD'

bride in turn. The actual wedding ceremony was completed when they drank this.

Under court ritual only a few princes and princesses of the blood and court ritualists and officials were eligible to witness the ceremony. Setsuko's parents, Tsuneo Matsudaira and his wife, however, were granted Imperial permission and attended.

VIEWED BY SCHOOLGIRLS.

Further ceremonies were then held in the Koreiden and Shiden sanctuaries within the palace to announce the union to the imperial ancestors.

The couple left the imperial palace together in a horse-drawn closed carriage, still wearing their ancient ceremonial robes. The princess' outer kimona was a brilliant Nile green and a gold half crown surmounted an elaborate coiffure of the medieval court.

The keynote of the public procession was its lack of ostentation. The crowds lining the streets were composed mostly of schoolgirls. The only escort was a platoon o' cavalry.

The couple were driven to the Prince's Omote-Machi mansion, an Occidental style dwelling near the Imperial Palace, which is to be their residence.

ON TOUR OF TOMBS.

This evening the couple will return to the imperial palace, this time in modern dress, to receive the congratulations of the Emperor and Empress. The princess will appear in a Parisian gown and the prince in the military uniform of the guards division.

The foreign diplomatic corps had no share in today's ceremonies. The various ambassadors and ministers and their wives will take part in the later festivities to celebrate the nuptials, probably as guests at a state banquet to be given by the Emperor at his Akasaka palace. This will take place after the prince and princess have returned from a tour of certain imperial tombs to further report their union to the spirits of the departed.

Today's ceremonies had been preceded by a long series in preparation for the event. The most important of these were the exchange of betrothal gifts on September 14 and that of Wednesday when the prince formally notified the family of the bride of the date selected for the wedding.

The betrothal gifts were those which custom prescribed, garments for the bride, a fan of cypress wood, the "tree of the sun"; two fresh fish "Tai," to the Japanese the king of fishes, and a cask of special purified sake. The bride's family sent in return gifts of "tai" and sake.

There had been many purification rites also and ancient ceremonies designed to drive away evil spirits and misfortune.

To overcome the technical obstacle caused by Setsuko's father having no title, she was adopted by her uncle, Viscount Morio Matsudaira, so he could act as her father at the wedding.

Tsuneo Matsudaira renounced his right of succession in favor of his younger brother or he might have been Viscount Matsudaira. The Matsudaira family is one of the oldest of feudal Japan.

SEEKS BROTHER GONE 40 YEARS

After a fruitless search of 40 years, Joseph A. Vaillancourt of 207 Essex st., Lynn, has appealed to the Boston Evening American to aid him in locating his brother, Leon, the fourth of 11 children, who left the family home in Montreal 65 years ago to seek adventure in the then virgin territory of the West. He was last heard of in 1898, when he was a lumberman of lumberjacks in Wisconsin.

L. Vaillancourt

Since then the family has dwindled until now five are left. Philomene, 84; Marguerite, 80; Benjamin, 87; Maxime, 73, and Joseph, 71. All are anxious to hear from Leon, who they believe is still living somewhere in the United States.

325 Cases of Pre-War Booze Can't Be Taxed or Moved; but–

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—There's no legitimate value in these 325 cases of pre-war liquor, including Scotch, Bourbon beer, imported claret, absinthe, benedictine and then some.

They are part of the estate of Joseph A. Strasser and the State of New York is asking no inheritance tax on them because they cannot be sold legally.

A son and daughter inherit the liquor, but cannot move it from the ancestral cellar.

4 FIREMEN HURT IN $50,000 FIRE AT NO. GRAFTON

North Grafton, Sept. 28—Four firemen were injured here today battling a fire which destroyed two business blocks and for a time threatened to become a conflagration.

The flames caused $50,000 damage, destroying the Allen and Crocker blocks on Main st. Aid was summoned by Chief Warren from Worcester, Shrewsbury, Grafton, Millbury and Westboro. Low water pressure seriously handicapped the firefighters.

Three of the injured firemen were members of Engine 6 of Worcester. They were Capt. W. Fred Thomas, John J. Gilmey and Edward J. Bentley.

They were standing on a fire escape of a building adjoining the Crocker block when a wall collapsed, showering them with burning timbers. Neither was seriously hurt.

Hoseman Leo Bertrand of North Grafton was badly cut by flying glass.

Both buildings were of frame construction, housing offices, stores a bowling alley and a poolroom. The Allen block was three stories in height and the Crocker block a story less.

Careless use of matches or cigarettes caused the fire, which started in the Allen building. Firemen said several roof fires were caused by sparks.

"ICE BOX BANDITS" WANTED FOR POSTOFFICE LOOTING

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 28—Albert J. Raymond and Roland G. Labonte, "ice box bandits," found guilty of second degree murder in the killing of a state policeman on April 6 at Pomfret, were also wanted for a postoffice break and theft of government property at West Springfield, Mass., last March, United States District Attorney John Barkley said a warrant for the arrest of the two men had been issued from his office and would have been served had they been acquitted.

Roxbury Man Dies

Bingo Fishbone, 63, of 85 Hollander st., Roxbury, collapsed while making a business visit in the building at 162 Tremont st. He was given first aid treatment but died before an ambulance of the Haymarket Relief Hospital reached the building.

WALES GREETED IN EAST AFRICA

Mombasa, Kenya Colony, East Africa, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Prince of Wales and his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, arrived today on the steamship Malon, beginning a good will tour of the British African colonies.

All the ships in the harbor were gay with bunting as the ship arrived at Kilindini, across a bridge from Mombasa, where a large crowd assembled to greet the royal travellers.

They will stay at Government House here for two days as the guests of the Governor Sir Edward Grigg and Lady Grigg. A ball and a garden party will be held in their honor.

An "iron horse" aboard the Malin helped to keep the Princes physical fit on the voyage from Egypt.

SMITH LEAVES ST. PAUL FOR WISCONSIN

first elected Magnus Johnson to the United States Senate and then followed it up with the present Senator Hendrik Shipstead, has fused with the Democratic party wholeheartedly.

This fact, in itself, may not sound so important, but when coupled with the support of the old La Follette group it assumes importance which is truly national.

In effect, it amounts to the normal Democratic vote, the normal Farmer-Labor vote and the old La Follette vote all working for Governor Smith for the presidency. Against this stands the regular Republican organization working for Hoover.

REPUBLICANS NERVOUS.

This organization was powerful enough in 1924 to carry the State for Coolidge by 25,000 over the combined Davis-La Follette vote, but much water has run under bridges since that time. Hence, the Democrats are confident and the Republicans correspondingly nervous.

Into such a situation, Gov. Smith stepped last night with a speech designed particularly for Minnesota consumption and ten thousand people in St. Paul's municipal auditorium literally ate it up.

Within the space of thirty minutes, Gov. Smith praised the records of the elder Roosevelt, the elder La Follette, Senator Norris (R.) of Nebraska, and ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, whose candidacy for the nomination at the Kansas City convention the Minnesota delegation backed to the last gasp.

He quoted Roosevelt against "invisible government;" he recalled that both La Follette and Roosevelt had left the Republican party to found their own progressive organizations; he said "Senator Shipstead also had to take a walk;" he quoted Senator Norris in praise of (Smith's) Omaha speech, and raised Governor Lowden as one of the clearest Republican thinkers on the subject of farm relief.

IS "TALKED TURKEY"

Solemn and satirical by turns, with literally stood ten thousand people on their chairs when he disrobed his manuscript and, as he expressed it, "talked turkey" to the wind.

The governor said he was in favor of giving the people "the low down in Washington," which, he asserted, President Coolidge has not done; he asked his audience to compare the governmental leadership of today with that existing under Roosevelt and Wilson.

He accused Coolidge and Hoover of "lack of leadership." He named with Coolidge and Hoover as evasive of the real issues, and wound up his speech with a challenge to his hearers to be faithful to the principles of Roosevelt and La Follette rather than the principles of Hoover and Coolidge.

Governor Smith resumes his tour today going to Milwaukee where he will deliver his final broadside of his present trip tomorrow night.

COOLIDGE MAY SPEAK IN N. E. FOR HOOVER

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Frank statements of some party leaders who have called on Herbert Hoover recently concerning the Republican prospects in Massachusetts, home State of President Coolidge, have served to revive speculation as to what part the chief executive is to play in the presidential campaign.

Mr. Coolidge and his successor as the head of the Republican party have conferred on this subject, but there has been no announcement beyond the mere statement that the chief executive wants to be helpful.

Since that pronouncement, word has gone around in some political circles that Mr. Coolidge contemplates making at least one speech before election day and, since his party appears to be having its troubles in his own State, the natural assumption has been he would speak there.

MAY FOLLOW PRECEDENT.

Political observers who have dug into the records have found plenty of instances for a President actively participating in a campaign in which his own political fortunes were not at stake, but there are few instances of a chief executive directly urging the voters to support the presidential candidate of his party.

President Coolidge has clung scrupulously to the precedents in such matters and should he decide to make an address in or out of his home state he would be expected by those who profess to know him best to confine himself to a review of the party record under past administrations and to an exposition of his own ideas of the benefits that might flow to the country by a continuation of Republican policies.

HOOVER'S EYE ON N. E.

Hoover is to invade New England just before he begins his driving finish of the presidential contest in his trip across the continent. Neither the time nor place of his address has been announced, but it has been the general understanding he will speak in the Democratic stronghold of the State, Boston, about October 23.

Meantime Hoover is giving special study to the situation there, as well as in other New England states which have become debatable territory. There are indications that the Republican drive in that section is to be increased in intensity even before the nominee makes his excursion into that territory.

READS HIS SPEECH.

Hoover also is giving increased attention to the situation in the South, and more and more he is taking over personal direction of the fights, particularly in those States from which have come reports of agricultural unrest or apparent inroads by the Democrats.

He is able to do this both by long distance telephone and by direct contact with leaders.

Additional conferences had a place today on the nominee's program as well as his semi-weekly engagement for questioning by newspaper correspondents. Between times he will subject to a second revision the proof of the address he is to deliver at Elizabethtown, Tenn., October 6.

Root Disapproves of Hoover's Dry Views

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Elihu Root, former Secretary of State, in a letter to Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National committee, today announced that he would support Herbert Hoover for the Presidency. He added, however, that he did not agree with the Republican candidate's views on prohibition.

"I think the country will come to a more intelligent way of dealing with that subject," the letter said, "than is contained in the present laws, but that will probably be a slow process, and in the meantime the work of carrying on our free government, with all its many difficulties and dangers, must be performed by us. We need the very best man possible to be the head of that business."

SMITH STARTS DISABLED VETS' DRIVE WITH $100

Minneapolis, Sept. 28 (AP)—An unsolicited donation of $100 by Gov. Alfred E. Smith sent Minneapolis Chapter, Disabled American Veterans, off on a flying start in its annual "forget-me-not" sale. After Owen Galvin, chapter commander, had pinned a special 'forget-me-not' on his lapel, the Governor slipped a bit of paper into Galvin's hand, saying: "Hope this will start you off, boys—hope the drive is a complete success." When Galvin got clear of the crowd he found it was a $100 bank note.

Chinese Cabinet Officer Is a 'Wow' as a Ball Fan

Shanghai, Sept. 28.—Dr. C. T. Wang, national minister of national affairs, is pretty much at home with his job, but he also knows his baseball as well, and would pass as a dyed-in-the-wool fan anywhere in the United States.

Dr. Wang speaks the English language faultlessly, wears western attire and smokes American cigarettes. But the full proof of Occidental associations came when he recently attended a ball game.

An American nine was playing a Chinese team and the former was leading, 4 to 2, when the latter came to bat in the eighth inning.

The first man up singled. "Attaboy" shrieked the excited Wang.

Then, as the next batter approached the plate, the minister shouted:

"Get hold of one and pole it out of the park!"

The runner on first tried to reach second on a short passed ball but was an easy out.

"Bonehead!" yelled Wang in disdain.

The Chinese were able to tie the score but the Americans won in the tenth despite the distinguished visitor's rooting prowess.

GOLFERS WILL VOTE FOR SMITH, HOOVER

New York, Sept. 28.—The politicians seem alive to the importances of the golf vote. Bobby Jones declared for Smith the other day. And now the women's national committee for Hoover announces that Glenna Collett is for Hoover.

drowning, the fate that has overtaken others who sought to negotiate the gut.

Involved in the officer's mess on the island, he arose at 5:30, aided an inmate, ran to the water's edge and plunged in with the milk cans, tied together, hugging his body on the surface. The tide was low at the time and there was little water in the swift-running narrows.

His absence was not noted on the island until 7 o'clock and a short time later the milk cans were found high and dry on the Point Shirley shore.

YOUTH ACCUSED OF 25 BURGLARIES

Edmund V. Sevigny, 16, of 47 Dutchwood st., Dorchester, was in the Dorchester Court charged with being a stubborn child and was also arraigned on six counts of breaking and entering in the day and night time, placed against him by Special Officers Edward Brayson and Martin Monahan of the Fields Corner Station.

Hearings on the complaints were put over until next Tuesday, June 3rd day. Meanwhile defendant was sent to the Charles st. jail.

The officers have 25 other complaints of breaking and entering against the lad which probably will be heard next Tuesday.

NEWTON MAN HELD; GIRL IS INVOLVED

Arrested in New York, Alphonso Colaccia, 21, is being held in the Tombs as a fugitive from justice for the Newton police, it was announced today.

Colaccia, who was indicted a year ago for non-support, abandonment and desertion of his wife and baby, was found in New York by Inspector Richard J. Goode of the Newton police, who returned to that city today and applied for extradition papers to bring the prisoner back to face trial. Colaccia disappeared from Waltham, where he then lived, one and a half years ago at the same time that Miss Emma Burke, 18, vanished. There is no warrant for her. She lived in Waltham.

UNITED STATES HANDS NAVAL PACT NOTE TO ENGLAND

cables between the State Department and the American embassies at Paris and London.

It awaits only instructions from Secretary of State Kellogg that it be formally handed to the respective foreign offices. This is to go forward shortly and before the end of the week the formidable document will be published to the world.

The note goes into the most minute details of the relations between the United States and the world powers in the efforts of this country to promote peace by a mutual and equable limitations of naval armaments.

ATTITUDE ON SUBS

It first reviews the Washington armaments conference of 1921-22 in which this country made junk of the flower of the most formidable navy afloat, while the other nations made little or no sacrifice.

It points out that on this occasion the United States expressed a willingness to eliminate submarines altogether, a measure favored by the British. The attitude of the French and Italian governments on this occasion, it is stated, made this impossible. Both insisted upon submarines.

It also points out that on this occasion the powers agreed to fix a limit on the size of light cruisers such as the United States now operates or is building. That is, such ships were not to exceed 10,000 tons with armament or not to exceed eight 8-inch guns.

MERCHANT SHIPS

At that time, it is stated, the United States proposed that, in addition to fixing a limit on the size of the cruiser, the total tonnage of cruisers should also be limited. This the British refused to do. When it was found impossible to limit these auxiliary craft, it is stated, the subject was dispensed with and the conference fixed limits on capital ship construction—that is ships above 10,000 tons.

The United States also points out and emphasizes that under the British proposal any merchant vessel under that flag could be converted overnight into a cruiser, thus giving that country a ratio of from 15 or 20 to one against the United States. If cruisers are permitted to carry eight-inch rifles, as America proposes, it would automatically eliminate the merchant-vessel as a cruiser.

Since then, the note states, the British have insisted upon the unrestricted construction of fast modern cruisers, somewhat smaller than the few in the United States Navy and carrying armaments of six-inch guns. Last year President Coolidge and his advisers deemed the time ripe to ask the powers if they would need to fix limits on auxiliary craft and halt this building, it will be said.

REFUSED TO REPLY

On that occasion, the note goes on, France and Italy did not favor the United States with the courtesy of a reply to the invitation. Great Britain, Japan and the United States made up the conference. Great Britain was adamant for building an unlimited tonnage in modern cruisers and the conference proved a failure. France at that time was not interested.

Now, it is stated, the United States finds France and Great Britain in close alliance, with France approving the unlimited construction of cruisers by the British and the British, formerly opposed to submarines, favoring unlimited construction of submarines, principally by the French.

All of the technical detail on these discussions is repeated, as well as a new exposition of the absolute requirements of the American Navy, it is learned. The note in conclusion says there is little need of renewing a discussion on the subject.

Admiral Magruder Forced to Loaf; $8000 a Year

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, former commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard, who was relieved from duty last fall because of magazine articles he wrote criticising the navy, may be given a post soon.

Magruder has two more years to serve before he reaches the retirement age. He received $8000 a year salary.

YALE STUDENT KILLED IN FALL OF FOUR STORIES

New Haven Ct., Sept. 28 (AP)—A Yale freshman believed to be Edward B. Randolph of Pleasantville N. Y., was killed by a fall from a window in Haughton Hall, and old campus dormitory, today. The class office was for the time being uncertain as to the identity of the student because of lack of acquaintance with the new arrivals. The student evidently accidentally walked out of a window immediately after arising.

SAVE MAN FROM DEATH IN CONCRETE MIXER

His hands caught in the gears of a concrete mixer at the Lynn Gas & Electric Co., Thomas Hunt of Howe ave., South Boston, was being drawn relentlessly toward death today, when his screams brought fellow workmen, who stopped the mixer and extricated him. He was taken to Lynn Hospital where the index finger of his right hand was amputated. The accident occurred when Hunt stumbled over a hose and fell onto the mixer.

She Doesn't Know Her Husband—If and If

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—A woman who insisted her brother-in-law was her husband was under arrest today, charged with perjury.

Mrs. Bella Frank, 23 years old, of the Bronx, was separated from her husband, Albert Frank, several years ago and granted alimony of $25 a week, none of which she has ever received.

Last Tuesday she had a man arrested, saying he was her husband, Albert. The man, however, insisted he was Albert's brother, Samuel.

Supreme Court Justice Humphrey sustained a writ of habeas corpus brought to free the prisoner. Samuel then demanded the arrest of Mrs. Frank for perjury and her attorney demanded his arrest on a similar charge. Assistant District Attorney Gallagher, after hearing several witness, had Mrs. Frank arrested and declined to entertain a similar charge against Samuel.

Judge Humphrey said he was convinced Mrs. Frank was attempting a game of "shift," to bring her real husband to court by holding the brother.

NORTHEASTERN RUSH, 446 AGAINST 297

Northeastern University freshmen and sophomores test their strength Tuesday, Oct. 2, in the annual fall rush in the Fens. There will be football games and races.

The freshmen number 446 and the sophs 297 and this difference may count against the second year men when they try to defend their colors, atop a pole, from the rush of the freshman horde.

This is the feature event but the football game, with George Crocker, former Quincy star tackle, leading the sophs, and Arthur Howe, tackle last year on the crack Everett high eleven, guiding the "frosh," is expected to be a hummer.

MOSCOW IS DRINKING MORE VODKA THAN MILK

Moscow, Sept. 28—The inhabitants of Moscow drink more vodka than they do milk, and indignant article in a workers' newspaper here protests.

The average Muscovite, the paper estimates, consumes only 1.06 litres of milk monthly, or less than 13 litres a year. The vodka consumption per person in Moscow, however, is 15 bottles annually, which is somewhat more than 13 litres.

TWO HURT AS AUTOS CRASH IN EVERETT

Everett Ashworth of Mt Auburn st., Watertown, and Oscar York of Tremont st., Everett, were slightly injured today when the automobiles they were driving were in collision at Parkway and Everett av., Everett. York was thrown out, sustaining bruises and abrasions, and Ashworth was cut by flying glass. Both men were treated by a nearby physician.

"DONATION DAY" FOR WOMEN'S HOSPITAL

The annual "Thanksgiving Day" celebration by former patients and friends of the Free Hospital for Women will be held at the hospital October 5, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Officially the observance is known as "Donation Day," and the gifts have actually established an alumnae of the institution. Mrs. Daniel W. Russell of Warwick rd., Brookline, is chairman of the committee.

SMITH TRAILS HOOVER HERE IN PRESIDENTIAL POLL

Today, she passed from the grasp of the New York executive into the hands of his opponent, Hoover, according to the tabulations of the straw votes.

Hoover's lead today over Governor Smith was given him by the hill towns in the western section of the State. He also had the aid of several large cities, such as Springfield, Northampton and Worcester.

It is also true that the Democratic party has been gaining for the governorship of the three States, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, but in the latter State Governor Smith has enabled the Democratic party to take the lead away from his Democratic opponent.

The 18 electoral votes which have been carried under the Smith column in the nation-wide poll also passed into the hands of Hoover, to be added to his list established outside of New England.

Reasons for the fact that Hoover has been gaining for the governorship given by the electorate of Massachusetts to Coolidge in 1924 by his heavy majority over Davis, are also to be found in the Democratic party itself, it is said.

Smith is having trouble in securing the women's vote in general throughout the State. In the larger communities he leads to a certain extent in this capacity, but in the smaller towns up and down state, there seems to be nothing to it but Hoover, where the fair sex are concerned, according to the figures so far tabulated.

Why Hoover is leading Smith in the latter towns is not known, although efforts are being made to find out.

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

Hoover leaders in this part of the state declare that they see nothing in the straw vote to cause them any worry. They say that the swing early in South Africa was a substantial lead over Davis. The smaller towns who labored to turn the tide in favor of Hoover.

Towns like Foster, Glocester and Cranston have indicated that they will remain Republican when the votes are counted next November, in Rhode Island.

Likewise, North Smithfield and South Kingstown, both carried by Coolidge in 1924 will go to Hoover, as predicted by the straw vote. Smith, however, has cut the figures down considerably.

In the Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont straw vote Hoover has apparently nothing to worry about. His lead is substantial in all three States. The straw poll from day to day simply adds to his figures, both in the men and women columns.

N. E. Women Named to Aid Hoover Drive for Votes

Washington, Sept. 28 (INS)—The national drive to corral the American feminist vote for Hoover as in full swing today with the completion of an organization to win the votes of business and professional women.

Efforts of the Republican national committee, in the support of women exceed anything ever attempted in any previous presidential race. With the entire number of Mrs. Ann T. Herbert's executive of the committee, separate bureaus were created to win different groups, the last of these groups for the association of business women's votes, was completed with the naming of State leaders in 16 States.

Those women will carry the Hoover campaign to their sisters in their respective States, it was announced. Plus the latter, members, bureaus, associations and clerical workers. The State leaders include Mrs. Emma Fall Schofield of Boston, for Massachusetts, and Miss Mary C. Smith of Providence, of Rhode Island.

8 COUPLES HEAD HERE ON GOLDEN HONEYMOONS

Milo, Me., Sept. 28 (AP)—Escorted by a squad of highway police a "honeymoon party" consisting of eight golden wedding couples left here today for Boston.

They were luncheon guests of Gov. Ralph O Brewster at Augusta today and tonight a banquet and reception had been planned for them at Portland.

With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Israel F. Dean, whose 50th marriage anniversary occurs in November all the couples have passed their golden wedding day. They are Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Carey, the Rev. and Mrs. Silvanus E. Frost and Mr. and Mrs. Manley G. Prescott.

Six of the couples will leave Portland tomorrow on a monorail for Boston. Mr. Frohock and Mrs. Beckett will fly from the Portland airport to the Statler hotel where the honeymooners will be guests of the management over Sunday.

MAGIC FAILS TO AVERT CRASH

Whisking an automobile off a fully [illegible] stage in plain view of the audience is one of the big feats performed by Howard Thurston, world famous magician, but he can't do it on Boston streets.

This was proved when the big specially constructed bus, in which [illegible] was riding, crashed into a Ford truck at the junction of Jamaicaway and Perkins st, Jamaica Plain.

Mr Thurston, his wife and 17 year old daughter Jane had narrow escapes from injury, with several members of his theatrical troupe [illegible]

"Despite my ability as a magician I couldn't prevent that accident," said Mr. Thurston, "after the situation had been straightened out. "I [illegible] an automobile disappear from the stage at the Colonial Theater [illegible] in plain view of the audience, but somehow or other I couldn't make that truck disappear. Guess I didn't say 'hocus pocus' quickly enough."

At the time of the accident Thurston was returning from Massachusetts Hospital School, Canton, where he had given a special show to 350 injured and deformed children housed there. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Boston Evening American. Fortunately no one in either automobile was hurt. The bus was due to go to the cover building of the Thursday boy [illegible] Hackaway of Dedham, [illegible]

The truck was operated by 20-year-old Miss Julia Hynes of 1 Champney st, Roxbury, whose father, Arthur [illegible], is in business at 2023 Center st, Jamaica Pl.

SEPTEMBER BECOMING MONTH OF ROMANCE, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

SEPTEMBER STEALS A MARCH ON JUNE AND becomes overwhelmingly romantic with weddings and betrothals. The latest affair to furnish a tea table topic for the gossips is the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Oakes and a scion of old Boston aristocracy. Mr. and Mrs. Oakes are today announcing the engagement of Miss Virginia Oakes and George Higginson, 2d, and predict a winter's wedding day for these interesting and important young people. That the betrothal causes much more than the usual flutter goes without saying. The bride-to-be attended Miss Wright's, where daughters of the elect are schooled for their top-flight stations in life, and then studied at Vassar. And, of course there were yearly pilgrimages to Europe and long intervals of brilliant young set entertaining in several winters here.

MR. AND MRS. OAKES had three daughters to present and did it royally, usually by means of enormous parties over the Christmas holidays when "Southwood," their splendid Brookline place near the Country Club was go fete to the Yuletide spirit. It was at "Southwood" just a short time ago Miss Elisabeth Oakes became the wife of Sidney Jones Colford, Jr., of Newport and New York. The younger sister, Miss Mary Frances Oakes is now Mrs. Hollis Hunnewell of Wellesley, the marriage having been celebrated abroad during one of the frequent European jaunts the Oakes family indulges in. All the daughters belong to the Junior League and have been accorded the accolade of Bostonian feminine social supremacy, Vincent Club membership.

MR. HIGGINSON'S PLACE with those breathing the most rarefied atmosphere is absolutely assured. He is the son of Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson and the late Mr. Higginson and by virtue of family ties and affiliations can claim kinship with every First Family. He followed precedent if not in the path laid out by others of his kind, from Groton to Harvard, with an interval at the St. John Barbara School, and while in college made the societies that stamp a young man with collegiate social success—the Hasty Pudding, et cetera. He also has memberships in the Tennis and Racquet and the Harvard Clubs. His sisters are Mrs. Bernard Rogers and Mrs. George Lyman, Jr.

CRACKLING FIRES IN enormous chimney places and the steaming 5 o'clock cup—what picture more cheerfully inviting can be imagined after the hunt—as daring riders breeze in all athrill and sparkling from a snapping October afternoon in the saddle. Picture this scene at "Mouse Manor," the Frederick L. Dabney place out in Dover. The Dabneys parade the fox and ... and open fires and Norfolk Hunt members are the enjoyers thereof when on Oct. 6 the "field" is asked to partake of Dabney hospitality. The run of the Norfolk that day is a late Saturday appointment. They, mounds, horses and riders stream away from Crane's corner in Millis for many miles over that almost perfect hunting country round about Dover, Millis, Medfield and Sherborn, and return to Dover just before dusk descends.

JUST WHY THE DABNEYS call their place "Mouse Manor" is a question leading pleasantly along the paths of cogitation. The answer however may only be guessed at by those outside the Dabneys' intimate circle, and even with it declare they never devulge it. In any case up in Avalon a gathering of the folk hunting round the Dabneys follow their ... all hours. It is a brilliant gathering in the saddle over the ... or on the ... and ... to the ... wagon ... party ... ... and ... ...

MANY DIE, 100,000 ARE HOMELESS IN HANKOW

Hankow, China, Sept. 28 (AP)—The greater section of the densely populated Chinese quarter was in ruins today after a fire which started in a gambling den on Tuesday and claimed an uncertain number of lives.

Men, women and children perished when, panic-stricken at their inability to escape from the conflagration, many were crushed.

The police, assisted by troops and the Chinese [illegible] were attempting to aid [illegible] persons.

THE MOST thrilling and most intimate picture of flaming youth ever revealed is presented in this great spectacle of beauty, wealth and frivolity. It's as though one were witnessing before one's own eyes the brilliant pageant of modern society, the gayety, the abandon, the provocative debutantes, the handsome young men—they pass swiftly before us in a story so real, so true, so romantically exciting that you will remember it long as one of the most worthwhile entertainments the screen has offered.

Bell to Twirl for Rochester Today

Weather clear; track fast.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Lefty Bell is slated to pitch the opening game of the Little World series with Montgomery Watch and Lee Fitzgerald, Reading Manager, for Montgomery tomorrow afternoon at Red Wing park. Bell will be opposed by Jack Knott, Rochester southpaw, who has been pitching winning baseball for the Red Wings all season.

Contrary to expectations, Mrs. Harold Van Wie, wife of the Reading Manager, failed to appear on the links yesterday afternoon to play a match with Mrs. Fitzgerald. Mrs. Van Wie went up at the seventh, with a par five when Miss Van Wie took four to get on.

Miss Cole drove 224 yards on the seventh hole, a remarkable performance. Mrs. Stetson was on next after to sale. Glenna was down in two putts to win with par four when Mrs. Stetson took three.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"THE baseball magnates are a merry lot these days as a re-

ople the baseball pennant races," chirped Mr. Boston. "The national pastime was supposed to be on the way to the sport morgue when the American and National League teams tightened up like the purse strings protecting a Scotchman's dough.

It was a good thing that baseball was as lively as a Follies girl intent upon [illegible] old race man out for a breezy ride. Huge crowds [illegible] regardless of [illegible] weather and such.

"All [illegible] exciting pennant races. The pleasure, of course, [illegible] to the Angels Yanks and stars in baseball's big [illegible] Babe Ruth, but it was a successful season. [illegible] Washington [illegible] dress of the Warriors [illegible].

"Even [illegible] Boston Braves [illegible] entered their way into the first division [illegible] made a fratricidal contender. The town is ready for a winning baseball club, but it is natural to expect that the enthusiasm of the fans should cool off somewhat after watching weak second division outfits over a period of years.

"Maybe 1929 will find a better state of baseball affairs here. The fans are living in hope.

"I also imagine that neither Bob Quinn nor Judge Fuchs would have any serious objections to banking the fortune that goes with a winning ball club."

SERGEANT EDDIE MACK of the Argonne A. A. dropped in to see Mr. Boston.

"I'm grabbing a rattler to the big town," piped Eddie. "When I hit Broadway, I'll find a lot of guys standing in front of the swell hotels all dolled up in new $30 suits and swinging canes. If you tipped them upside down, not a nickel would drop from their jeans. A great blah town is New York.

"Anyway, Sheldon Fairbanks, manager of the new Garden here, and Dan Carroll are coming along with me. I'm going to talk the fight game over with Rickard and try to dig up some opponents for my Garden shows. We have not any license yet and so I cannot sign up any fighters for the Garden. The old Argonne A. A. is still in the midst of the action, and I'll sign the fighters to Argonne contests.

"I was down to Providence the other night to see the scrap between Arthur Flynn and Leo Scozza of Buffalo. It was a whale of a jam and would have been called a draw in the old days. The fans were in doubt as to whether Flynn or Scozza would get the duke. It went to the Buffalo battler and there was the usual aquawk that follows close decisions.

"I would like to drop the pa in the for the Argonne Club at Mechanics Building on October 9 if Scozza would listen to reason. Fighters nowadays want the Denver mint every time they win a bout. I'll 'phone you from Broadway if I sign up any good matches."

BEFORE leaving, Mark said a few kind words about Andy Callahan of [illegible]

"JACK BRITTON may be [illegible] Boston, but he does not see a [illegible] a great deal of opposition from the [illegible] of fighters. Maybe after Britton celebrates his 50th birthday [illegible] it will be found who is capable of [illegible] him. I say MAYBE."

BIDS OUT OF TURN.

If a bid is made out of turn anyone other than the player who has the right to bid may call attention to the fact that it is an offense; or the in-turn player (right-hand opponent of South) may ignore the bid out of turn and make his declaration. If, however, the opponent on the left prefers, the bid out of turn may be accepted. In such case the partner of the offender declares before attention is called to the out-of-turn bid, and before the in-turn bidder has declared. If, before the player to the left of the out-of-turn bidder declares, attention is called to the offense of the in-turn bidder, then that in-turn bidder, partner of the bid out of turn is void. In such case the partner of the offender is barred from further participation in the auction, but the offender may be declare thereafter in his proper turn.

Case 1—It is South's bid. West bids one Heart out of turn. North immediately bids one Spade. The auction proceeds without penalty.

Case 2—South's bid. West bids two Hearts, North two Spades, East declares, and South bids three Hearts. West bids, and before the in-turn bidder has declared, South immediately bids one Club, nothing else having been bid out of turn. West bids one and no penalty attaches to the offender.

Case 3—South's bid. North bids one Heart out of turn and attention is called to the offense. South, the in-turn bidder, declares Two Hearts. East, partner of the out-of-turn bidder, is barred from participation in the auction. West bids one Spade. North, the in-turn bidder, declares Two Diamonds, and South immediately bids Two Clubs, nothing else having been bid out of turn. West then bids one Heart in proper turn. East cannot be barred from participation in the auction.

Case 4—South's bid. North bids one Heart out of turn and attention is called to the offense. South, the in-turn bidder, declares Two No Trumps. West, partner of the out-of-turn bidder, may not bid, his turn having been passed. East bids Three Clubs, and South Three Diamonds. West bids Three Hearts, and North Three Spades. East then bids Four Clubs, and South Four Diamonds. West bids Four Hearts, and North Four Spades. East then bids Five Clubs, and South Five Diamonds. West bids Five Hearts, and North Five Spades. East then bids Six Clubs, and South Six Diamonds. West bids Six Hearts, and North Six Spades. East then bids Seven Clubs, and South Seven Diamonds. West bids Seven Hearts, and North Seven Spades. East then bids Seven No Trumps, and South Seven Spades. West bids Seven No Trumps, and North Seven Hearts. East then bids Seven No Trumps, and South Seven Diamonds. West bids Seven No Trumps, and North Seven Clubs. East then bids Seven No Trumps, and South Seven Hearts. West bids Seven No Trumps, and North Seven Spades

IN YOUR OWN LIGHT

By LUCY LOWELL

He is the most astonishing person I ever met.

When first I saw him, recognizing bitterness in the lines of his face, a curious burning concentration in his eyes, I thought him a fanatic of some sort. One who had given over something of mental balance to some cause, what he saw as a fine ideal, perhaps, allowing the lesser things of life to get away from him in consequence.

But I soon discovered that he was no follower of a white star.

Little by little as we exchanged "good-mornings" and remarks on the weather, I learned that his business was failing and began to put down the tenseness to worry. It was through this scoundrelly bad faith of some of his associates that he found himself in such a position, he informed me, and though I was puzzled I felt a bit sorry for him. Since he seemed so down. Sometimes I wondered why he appeared to make effort to save his business, why he preferred to expend his time and energy talking about it rather than working for it. But this he carried on.

As time went along I heard more of his story. There had been other businesses which had failed in a similar manner and for a similar cause. And before them he had been engaged in a remunerative profession, but this, too, had gone by the board through the rascally heartlessness of certain political leaders.

As he grew toward confidences he took up the matter of acquaintances and friends—or, rather, those who had been his friends, for he appeared to have none at the time. For every one he had known had turned out to be treacherous and self-seeking, and finally he had thought it best to withdraw into a sort of voluntary isolation where he would not be assailed by the baseness of human kind.

And then I began to understand what this person was frantic about. Not a cause, not a high ideal—but himself.

An exaggerated egotism in the first place which he had nursed along till it possessed him like a fever, unfitting him for contact with his fellows and rendering him unable to make a living for himself.

A tragic and revolting figure he turned out to be, yet one to prove warning to others.

The state of mind which sees something wrong about everybody in the world excepting the individual which harbors it is a dangerous one and one which should be caught up and corrected before it takes possession of good sense.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

By the time she is 50, the modern girl should have collected enough old wedding-rings for all her grandchildren to cut their teeth on.

* * *

Many a marriage has successfully withstood the undertow of poverty for years, and then come to smash on a "wave of prosperity." The minute a man gets rich enough to change his coat for dinner, he seems to want to change his affections, along with it.

* * *

A "sensible marriage" is usually the patch by which a girl hides the scars left on her heart, or her vanity, when her big romance goes to smash.

When a man promises to "give up" anything, from a weakness to a woman, somehow it suddenly becomes so attractive to him that he begins to take a new and violent interest in it.

Take care of your husband's pennies, and some beautiful blonde will take care of his dollars.

* * *

The woman for whom a man is always looking hopefully, is the one to whom he can promise everything—because she expects absolutely nothing.

* * *

After 45, most of a woman's "tricks in her bag" look, and many a man mistakes his car for his sex-appeal.

BAN ON TANTRUMS

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

Nearly all children go through a period of having what we call "tantrums." I say children, but on second thought I remember several adults who also indulge in them, probably because these affairs worked out successfully in childhood.

Whether your child will keep after his first attempt to cow you by howling until his face is ghastly purple will all depend upon how you treat his first effort at bullying you.

When your baby, in his cradle, cries, it is, of course, necessary to investigate and discover whether he needs food, water or other attentions. However, if the crying ceases immediately upon your picking him up, it is almost certain that your small person has discovered that his will is law in the family. This is the time to check any such tendency by turning the baby over to a new position, setting him up for a while, if he is old enough, or giving him a plaything, a spool, a ball—in fact, anything to take his mind off crying and expecting to be humored.

Sometimes children who have not noticeably forced their wills by having tantrums during babyhood, suddenly discover at the age of three or four years that this means can be successfully used.

In an older child, where tantrums have been satisfactory to his wishes a few times, the best remedy is to leave him entirely alone. I don't mean to shut him in a room by himself, but simply walk out and go to some other part of the house, or out into the yard. When he finds he has no audience, he will stop without further ado. A tantrum is no fun when you're all by yourself. It is practically acting from start to finish. We see it occasionally in grown women who have hysterics or faint when they are denied certain privileges for which they have expressed a desire.

Every time you allow a child to have a tantrum and derive any satisfaction from it, the next one is just that much easier and more sure to be scheduled for appearance. And the child who has tantrums and "gets by with it" bids fair to be a most unhappy, selfish, disagreeable grown person. When he fares forth into the world, there won't be a mother along to give in to him when he screams for the moon. He will learn a certain measure of self-control then in a much more cruel way than you would ever teach it to him.

Primarily a child must be taught that other people have rights, that no one in the world gets everything he wants, and that conforming in a sensible degree to circumstances makes for happiness and more often works toward procuring the desired object than screaming and kicking for it.

Never reward a child for screaming. When he has a tantrum leave him to himself until he can cheerfully rejoin the family. And do not stress the act, if he does take place. Overcome it by ignoring it, and by making the child know that when he can ask cheerfully and politely for a thing he may have it, if it is possible for you to give it to him, but that when he screams and cries for it, he automatically denies himself what he desires.

Mr. A. Lincoln Filene, Chairman of the Board of Directors of Wm. Filene's Sons Company, has summarized in part his letter regarding the Company as follows. Copies of this letter may be had from the undersigned upon request.

BUSINESS

"Wm. Filene's Sons Company, through its main store in Boston and its ten branch stores and shops in other localities in New England, is engaged in the retailing of clothing and accessories for men, women and children. The business, although thus specialized, ranks second in size among the retail department store enterprises of New England, being in the belief one of the largest, if not the largest, of its kind in the country. The success of the business, in my opinion, has been due to the careful extension of policies long established and basically sound.

In 1856, my father, William Filene, the founder of the business, opened a store in Salem, Mass., and in 1881 a store in Boston. In 1901 this business was taken over by my brother, Edward A. Filene, and myself, under the firm name of William Filene and Sons.

In September 1912 the store moved into a new building, at the corner of Washington and Summer Streets, Boston, especially designed for the business, covering about half of a city block and having eight stories and three basements. At the same time new merchandise departments, including complete men's shops, were added. The result of this step was an increase of over 75% in business during the first year, followed by a continued growth which made subsequent enlargements necessary during ensuing years, until the store now ranks with the larger stores of the country. During the last ten years, small branch shops have been opened in nine other localities in New England, and during the current year a three-story and basement store in Worcester, Mass.

EARNINGS AND ASSETS

The net sales of the Company, and its net profits after deducting all charges including depreciation and after Federal income taxes at the rate of 12% in lieu of Federal taxation on dividends and capital stock taxes, as certified by Herbert F. French Company, Public Accountants and Auditors, were as follows:

Year Ending January 31	Net Sales	Net Profits as above	Times Pfd. Div. Req. Earned	Per Share Common
1924	$23,723,908	$1,103,993	3.0	$1.47
1925	25,299,753	1,191,073	3.2	1.65
1927	28,473,815	1,351,176	3.1	1.99
1928	30,372,457	2,054,291	5.6	3.39

The balance sheet of Wm. Filene's Sons Company as at January 31, 1928, after giving effect as of that date to the recapitalization of the Company and the sale of certain shares of Preferred Stock, as certified by Herbert F. French Company, shows net tangible assets of $10,451,614 or over $185 per share of Preferred Stock presently to be outstanding. As shown by this balance sheet, current assets amounted to $9,004,783 compared to current liabilities of $1,270,477, a ratio of over 7 to 1, and cash alone was over $370,000 in excess of all liabilities other than capital stock and surplus.

MANAGEMENT

The officers of the Company, in addition to myself as Treasurer and Chairman of the Board of Directors, are Mr. Edward A. Filene, President, Mr. Edward J. Frost, Vice-President, and Mr. Louis E. Kirstein, Vice-President. The executive responsibility for the management will remain in the hands of the officers who have heretofore actively conducted the business."

The Company has agreed to make application to list both the Preferred Stock and the Common Stock on the New York and Boston Stock Exchanges.

Preferred Stock—$104.50 Per Share and Accrued Dividend

Common Stock—$38 Per Share

This offering is made in all respects, when, as and if issued and delivered to and accepted by us and subject to the approval of our counsel. We reserve the right to reject any and all subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for, and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. It is expected that delivery of temporary stock certificates or of interim receipts will be made on or about October 11, 1928, at the office of Lehman Brothers, 16 William Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE ☆ ☆ BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN ☆ ☆ BOSTON, SEPTEMBER 28, 1928

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON:
1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parkin problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare eth any in the land, in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotelsmay be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND:
1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prospery of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use ofmodern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New Englal agriculture to better marketing methods.

Buying for the Home

Who Does It?

What would you answer if you were asked to designate the place of woman in the economic progress of New England?

When the State Federations of Women's Clubs offered to join hands two years ago with the men of the New England Council there appeared to be some difficulty in establishing their status.

The men recognized that as "organized" women the club members hold an important position, but they were not quite prepared to define it.

And so, as Mrs. Guy E. Speare of Plymouth, New Hampshire, reported at Swampscott to the New England conference of State Federations, "the chairman issued a sort of challenge to us, saying that it was our task to tell him just what our relation is to the economic progress of New England."

Having meditated the problem, Mrs. Speare believes the women have found the correct answer. It is printed here. Please read it and say whether you know a better one:

"We do not function as the men do, for we are not manufacturers, farmers, hotel men, bankers or capitalists. . . . The State Federations have a membership of 200,000 club women. . . . OUR conclusion is that the business of New England club women is purchasing agents for our homes."

In any examination we ever heard of this answer would be marked correct, 100 per cent.

Our only wonder is that the question called for any pondering. It was our supposition that the ladies have known from the beginning that they are the home purchasing agents, not only in New England but throughout America.

If they HAVE NOT known it, they may rest assured their status has been clear enough to the merchant, as any one may see by turning to the advertising columns.

Vote Early and Be Happy

Thanks to the City Council You MAY Vote on November 6th as Late as 8 P. M.

It was a Republican member of the City Council who introduced the order by the adoption of which the polling places are to be open until 8 p. m. on November 6th and we observe that Councillor Dowling is accused by some of his Democratic brethren of "stealing their thunder."

The average citizen will say that where the order came from does not matter so long as he is assured of an opportunity to cast his ballot in one of the most important elections in history.

The plan HAD been to open the polls in Boston at 6 o'clock in the morning, closing them at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

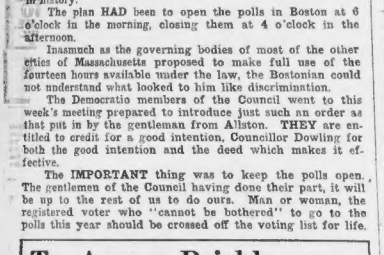
Inasmuch as the governing bodies of most of the other cities of Massachusetts proposed to make full use of the fourteen hours available under the law, the Bostonian could not understand what looked to him like discrimination.

The Democratic members of the Council went to this week's meeting prepared to introduce just such an order as that put in by the gentleman from Allston. THEY are entitled to credit for a good intention. Councillor Dowling for both the good intention and the deed which makes it effective.

The IMPORTANT thing was to keep the polls open. The gentlemen of the Council having done their part, it will be up to the rest of us to do ours. Man or woman, the registered voter who "cannot be bothered" to go to the polls this year should be crossed off the voting list for life.

To Amuse Bricklayers—

We Print This Bricklaying Picture



WINSTON CHURCHILL, CHANCELLOR OF THE BRITISH EXCHEQUER, AS A BRICKLAYER. REGULAR BRICKLAYERS, PLEASE DON'T LAUGH.

This shows Winston Churchill, son of Lord Randolph Churchill, grandson of old Leonard Jerome, Wall Street stock broker and partner of Bill Travers, building his own house, and laying his own bricks. The girl is his daughter, keeping track of the bricks, acting as helper, and noting her father's speed.

Just why the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who handled hundreds of millions for the British Empire, should devote time to bricklaying, nobody knows. Perhaps, and PROBABLY, the gentleman likes to have people talk about him.

Possibly he was annoyed with the unions, people that

GO ON DESPITE A TEMPORARY DEFEAT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE is always an element of chance in every contest.

The Greeks used to worship the god of chance and no one can deny that luck has something to do with every victory. Success is not all due to luck, yet it is partly due to it.

When Capt. Courtney and his three companions attempted to fly across the ocean they broke down and were rescued at sea. Courtney attributed his breakdown to bad luck. Something went wrong with the machinery.

"It was a bit of stupid luck," he said, "to have that bit of copper pipe, part of the fuel feed lines, break the way it did. It was that which started the fire, and it was, of course, something that no one could foresee and guard against. Had this pipe not broken, we would have reached Newfoundland very easily, as our fuel consumption had been lower than we estimated before the start."

Still it is remarkable that Lindbergh had no bad luck. It looks as if, in addition to his personal qualifications, he was rightly named "Lucky Lindy."

There is an element of chance in every enterprise. Business men recognize it.

The ability to succeed consists largely of taking into account one's possible defeats and preparing for them.

There is a good deal also in having the sure hand and quick eye that can readily take advantage of disaster. If a man will not lose heart, but will immediately acknowledge his defeat and go ahead with his plans; that is, if he quickly adapts himself to the unforeseen, luck has a way of favoring him.

Almost all successful men do not fail to give chance credit for the large part of their success. No man can succeed unless in some measure he is favored by the high gods.

It is the one who can quickly adjust himself, and rearrange his program, whatever may happen, that is the most liable to succeed.

Do not be discouraged, therefore, if something happens unforeseen or if there is temporary defeat. The main thing is to have an undaunted spirit and to go on in spite of temporary defeat.

Napoleon is said to have believed in his star, which was just another name perhaps for his indomitable will.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THEY'RE curing insanity with lipsticks and marcels.

No, I'm not joking. Beauty parlors have been installed in many American insane asylums and tangled minds are straightening under the operators' skilled fingers.

Wonderful what a touch of rouge and a dash of brilliantine will do for a scrambled spirit!

And why not? What's sanity? The attitude of a self-respecting mind that has lifted itself above savagery and is eager to play the game with its kind.

What's insanity? The fear and fury and indifference of a mind which has lost its bearings and is no longer able to play the game.

Restore pride and eagerness to a sick mind and you're well on a way to a cure.

Lipsticks and marcels restore pride and eagerness to a woman's sick mind. Pride in herself—eagerness to do something with herself.

Clean up the ugliness and untidiness of a woman's body and you'll go a long way toward cleaning up the ugliness and untidiness of her soul.

And that goes for more than insane women—

It goes for every daughter of Eve. Women need beauty.

This is not mere vanity. It is a fundamental law of the feminine character.

Women need beauty because they must build beauty.

Since Eve first plaited roses in her hair and made a home for Adam in a cave, women have put life in order and made it beautiful.

Adam found the cave, but Eve turned it into a home.

Adam dragged home the bloody dorakin, but Eve cured it and decorated it with quills and beads.

Bringing beauty out of brutality —that was woman's big job. And her pride in her personal appearance was tied up with her big job.

Women wear beauty as a plant wears flowers—and for exactly the same reason—as a lure that life may be carried on. And for that reason women put beauty into their nomes—that life might be carried on with greater fineness and pride.

Men hunted food for the body—

Women hunted food for the soul. And when a woman ceases to care for beauty you may be very sure that she is sick in the very foundations of her life.

Women should delight in lovely, shining hair, soft, fragrant skin, dainty clothes. They should be proud of these things, and from their pride in their own beauty they should build more beauty around them.

Much of our married misery and melancholy would be lifted if every woman could have a pretty new dress at least once a month and go to a beauty parlor at least once in two weeks.

And the moral of this is: Get your wife that new fall outfit, Jim. It will pay big dividends.

New York Day by Day

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—Thoughts while strolling: Nothing can become so obsolete as a hotel. A man in full evening dress at noon. That's staying out. Edwin Balmer, editor of the Red Book. The traffic tower windows need washing. Dilapidated auto with card: "Any price over $10 and I'm yours."

Something wholesome looking about a minister or a priest. John K. Winkler, who wrote the book, "Hearst," Rarely see widow's bonnets any more. Policemen who always twirl their whistles. A sad-eyed Great Dane in a rumble seat. A soft drink saloon with swinging doors and a sawdust floor.

A good saving bank motto: "Save First—Then Buy." So few do it that way. Fewer Chinese laundries these days. Nothing makes a man look so disheveled as a tie band slipped up over his collar. George Jean Nathan, a Ft. Wayne, Ind., boy who made good in the city.

The limousine trade at delicatessen shops. What's become of Tarn-versin Hall? Times red-faced women with British accents and manish walks you always find at a tea. Lew Fleid's son Herbert. The prettiest girls in a New York department store are found at the glove counter.

Harry Frazee. And Elmer Selwyn. The negro salesman who wears a rabbit's foot in his hatband. The spooky desolation of a building before it is turned over to wreckers. Why are there no "haunted" houses in cities? Those calliope motor horns wailing like lost souls.

Seems to be a slump in jazz orchestras. The Bowery hotel clerk who made a killing on a long shot and is spending it on Broadway. Sign: "Expert Nail Bleaching." What in the world is that? And a window full of tadpoles with a sign: "The tadpole reminds us." Of what, for instance?

That beautiful actress who is always chewing gum. And on the stage she has a broad A. Pretty tea room waitresses in printed gowns. Ray Goetz whose office was decorated by Urban and who has fresh coffee on tap for visitors.

THERE used to be a daily period in small town life when motion seemed suddenly to suspend. Sometimes it was around noon, but generally as dusk was falling. Main st. would be deserted, the blacksmith's hammer stilled and even the howl of a dog sounded like some unruly thing.

The whole village paused in a sort of reverential awe and then as suddenly resumed its accustomed tempo. I wondered about this mysterious hush in my formative days. I don't pretend to understand it now. But to me it symbolizes the vast difference between the city and the village.

The city never halts for a second in its unceasing grind but plunges madly on. There is always that turbulent roar and hoster-keller. It is the village only that comes to a full stop, takes time for a fresh breath and a little introspection.

IN my many years in New York I have never seen a man or woman enjoying the relaxing comfort of a rocking chair. In fact, at the moment I cannot recall ever seeing a rocking chair in a New York home. A rocking chair, in case you don't know, is a thing you knock your shins on.

A WESTERNER decided he wanted the big home of a New Yorker down on Long Island. He asked the price and was told it was $750,000. He agreed to pay that and was waiting for the check when the New Yorker backed down. Several days later the westerner went to a bank, secured $750,000 in cash and carried it in a grip to the owner of the home. The sight of so much money in cash resulted in a rising temperature and quick sale.

IN a like manner, gambling houses prefer to sell chips instead of having patrons play with actual money. A gambler does no worry so much when he sees chips disappear. But when it is actual money he is likely to have a chill and call his carriage.

"DO you New Yorkers," inquired R. H. of Jacksonville, Fla., "ever wear anything but silk hats to the theater?" Mercy, no. We would just as soon think of going around on holidays without badges or flag emblems.

To Amuse Bricklayers

have never really WORKED often feel that annoyance.

At all events, this Britisher, who lays bricks with thick kid gloves on his hands, a cigar in his mouth and without overalls, is proud of being able to lay 600 bricks a day.

Any regular bricklayer could do that job in the early morning, do it over again in the early afternoon, and rest the greater part of the day.

He DOESN'T, because unions find it desirable not to lay too many bricks.

And in that, within reason, they are right.

In old days contractors used to hire what they called "rushers." They would get a young man in the prime of life, expert, fast, and pay him secretly a bonus for the number of bricks that he laid above the average capacity. The older men that had put a lifetime of vitality into bricklaying had to keep up with him, keep their end of the wall level with his, or run the risk of discharge.

Fortunately for human beings and human decency, the unions regulating a day's work ended that.

Bricklayers, when they see this picture, will enjoy it as the professional coachman used to enjoy seeing his master drive four horses in old days. The horses were checked up, so they couldn't do anything even if they wanted to.
